in: Bedrock Edition, Tutorials This tutorial is exclusive to Bedrock Edition. Bedrock Edition releases regular beta versions for users to test features that will be in an upcoming update. This tutorial will show you how to join and leave the beta program and give warnings about what betas may do to your world. Requirements[] The beta program is only available on Windows, Xbox One and Android. Warnings[] Beta versions are not fully tested and may contain bugs that crash the game or corrupt your world. It is recommended to regularly back up worlds when playing in the beta program or only play in new worlds. Joining[] Windows 10/11 and Xbox One[] You must own the digital version of Minecraft, not the disc version. Open the Microsoft Store app. Search for the Xbox Insider Hub app. The search bar is in the top right of the window. If the Xbox Insider Hub app is not installed, install it. Launch the Xbox Insider Hub app. Open the Previews menu and click the card titled "Minecraft for Windows 10". Click "Join", then click "Continue". The latest beta will now be downloaded if updates are set to automatic in the store. Android[] Open the Google Play Store. Search for "Minecraft" and open the app store page. Scroll down to the section titled "Become a tester" and click "Join". The Play Store will now soon install the latest beta version. Leaving[] Windows 10/11 and Xbox One[] Open the Microsoft Store app. Search for the Xbox Insider Hub app. Launch the Xbox Insider Hub app. Open the Previews menu and scroll down to the card titled "Minecraft for Windows 10". Click "Manage". Make sure the beta program is selected then click "Leave Preview" and finally click "Continue". You have now exited the beta. The game may need to be reinstalled. On Windows, back up the %LOCALAPPDATA%\Packages\Microsoft.MinecraftUWP_8wekyb3d8bbwe\LocalState\games\com.mojang\minecraftWorlds folder. Uninstall the game and reinstall it from the Store. Android[] Open the Google Play Store. Search for "Minecraft" and open the app store page. Scroll down to the section titled "You're a beta tester" and click "Leave". The Play Store will now soon install the latest release version. If you're eager to be one of the first to see everything new that's coming to Minecraft, then chances are you'll want to be part of the beta. While it does come with its own drawbacks that you'll need to know about before signing up (more on that later), it's a way of helping the developers iron out bugs, as well as granting you a chance to see new features before everyone else. Here's how to join and leave the Minecraft beta on Xbox One, PC, and Android. What You Need to Know Before Joining the Minecraft Beta While the beta obviously has its perks, it's worth noting that there are some disadvantages and issues players can and probably will run into while playing this unreleased version. First, you'll be unable to access Realms and will not be able to join players who aren't in the beta, while you're signed up to it. As such, if you want to play with friends, you'll all need to sign up to it. Or, just leave the Minecraft beta as we've laid out down below each time you want to play, but that's a bit of a faff. You'll want to backup any Worlds you really care about before taking part in the beta. That's because, as we previously noted, this is an unreleased and unfinalized version of the game. Bugs and glitches can still be present and could cause unexpected and unwanted errors or crashes. How to Join the Minecraft Beta on Xbox One & PC If you're playing on Xbox One or PC, you'll need the Xbox Insider Hub in order to enroll to the Minecraft beta. This can be downloaded from the Microsoft/ Xbox Store on both platforms if you don't already have it. Upon signing in, you'll then need to follow the following steps: Select and go to the 'Insider Content' option from the sidebar menu. Under the Games column on the left, you should see 'Minecraft' as an option with the description "Join the Minecraft Beta Program!" below. Select this. Simply confirm you want to Join and you'll be all signed up. Any required updates will then be available to download. How to Join the Minecraft Beta on Android If you'd like to sign up to the beta on Android, it's as simple as clicking this link here, and then clicking on the 'Become a Tester' button. You should then receive a new update via the Google Play Store for Minecraft that you can download. Simply let this install and load up the game and you're all set. How to Leave the Minecraft Beta on Xbox One The methods for leaving the Minecraft beta are a little different between the Xbox One and PC versions of the game. For the Xbox One version, you'll need to open up the Xbox Insider Hub app once again. Select the Minecraft Beta Program and confirm the option to 'Unenroll.' Unfortunately, you'll then need to uninstall Minecraft from your console. At least it's only a tiny download. After uninstalling the game, you'll then need to give your Xbox One a hard reset. This requires you to press and hold down the power button on the console while it's turned on for 10 seconds until the system turns off. Wait for 10 seconds, and then you're able to turn the console back on. From there, simply head to 'My Games & Apps' on your Xbox One once it's all loaded back up and select 'Minecraft' from the 'Ready to Install' tab. Once it's downloaded, you should be able to boot up your worlds in Minecraft, no longer part of the beta. How to Leave the Minecraft Beta on PC For PC players it's a little different. Once again, you'll want to make a backup of any worlds you have just in case things go a bit awry. From there, you'll want to open the Xbox Insider Hub app once again and select the 'Unenroll' option when selecting Minecraft. Then simply uninstall and reinstall Minecraft from the Microsoft Store and you'll be all set to dive back into the game. How to Leave the Minecraft Beta on Android Leaving the Minecraft beta on Android is as simple as it was to join. Head over to this link and select the 'Leave the Program' underneath 'Leave the Testing Program' heading. Then uninstall and reinstall the app on your phone and you'll be all good to go again. That's everything you need to know to join and leave the Minecraft beta on Xbox One, PC and Android. For more tips, tricks, and guides, be sure to search for Twinfinite. While testing a beta version of an app or App Clip, you can send the developer feedback about issues you experience, or make suggestions for improvements based on the "What to Test" content. Feedback you submit through TestFlight is also provided to Apple as part of the TestFlight service. iOS, iPadOS, or macOS appsYou can send feedback through the TestFlight app or directly from the beta app or beta App Clip by taking a screenshot, and you can report a crash after it occurs. If you were invited to test an app with a public link, you can choose not to provide your email address or other personal information to the developer. Apple will also receive all feedback you submit and will be able to tie it to your Apple ID. Sending feedback through the TestFlight appFor iOS or iPadOS:Open the TestFlight app on your device.From the Apps list, tap the app.Tap Send Beta Feedback.In the share dialog, tap Include Screenshot to choose a screenshot. If you don't want to send an attachment, tap Don't Include Screenshot.Add your comments (up to 4,000 characters), and optionally enter your email address if you were invited with a public link.Tap Submit.For iOS 12.4 or earlier:If your device is running iOS 12.4 or earlier, tap Send Beta Feedback to compose an email to the developer. The feedback email contains detailed information about the beta app and about your iOS device. You can also provide additional information, such as necessary screenshots and steps required to reproduce any issues. Your email address will be visible to the developer when you send email feedback through the TestFlight app even if you were invited through a public link. For macOS:Open the TestFlight app on your Mac.From the Apps list in the sidebar, select the app you want to send feedback for.Click Send Beta Feedback.In the feedback dialog that appears, add your comments (up to 4,000 characters), and optionally enter your email address if you were invited with a public link.Optionally, attach a screenshot by clicking Attach Screenshot.Click Submit.Note: You can drag and drop screenshots into the feedback text field. Sending feedback through the appWhen you take a screenshot while testing a beta app or beta App Clip, you can send the screenshot with feedback directly to the developer without leaving the app or App Clip Experience. Developers can opt out of receiving this type of feedback, so this option is only available if the developer has it enabled. For iOS or iPadOS: For macOS:Take a screenshot on your Mac. For details on how to take screenshots, visit Take a screenshot on your MacA thumbnail of your screenshot appears in the lower-right corner of your Mac. Click the thumbnail to open the Quick Look window and, if needed, add drawings and text with Markup.From the Share menu in the Quick Look window, click Send Beta Feedback.Optionally, you can add comments (up to 4,000 characters), and your email address if you were invited with a public link.Click Submit. If you experience a crash while testing a beta app or beta App Clip, you'll receive an alert asking if you want to send crash details to the developer through TestFlight. Developers can opt out of receiving this type of feedback, so this option is only available if the developer has it enabled.When a crash alert displays for TestFlight for iOS or iPadOS, tap Share, add any additional comments, then tap Submit.When a crash alert displays for TestFlight for macOS, click Report, add any additional comments, then click OK, Send, or Reopen. tvOS appsTo provide feedback on a tvOS app, open TestFlight, go to app's page, go to the Information section to view the developer's email address, and send them an email. Provide as much information as you can, including screenshots and steps required to reproduce any issues you encountered. Please note that your email address will be visible to the developer when you send email feedback through TestFlight. If you need to contact the developer while you're testing their beta app for reasons other than feedback, you can view their email address. In TestFlight, go to the app's page, go to the Information section, and tap App Details to view the developer's email address.
